Design and Ministry Needs

The growing school and growing church shared space, and each needed more room to accommodate their growth. The school was designed to house Middle and High School students.

Highlights

The project not only contained classrooms and labs for students, but also a Music Arts room, a physical and graphic arts room, and a full kitchen. The commons include a small assembly platform and serves as a multipurpose space as the student cafeteria, a large group meeting space, and outdoor patio seating. In addition to the double basketball-size gym, the building houses locker rooms, a workout room, and school offices.

Results

The school opened with the facility with record enrollment, and the facility still gives them room to continue to grow.

Quote

When people ask me what we think of The McKnight Group, I tell them we built a multimillion-dollar sanctuary with them and then turned right around and built a multimillion-dollar school building with them.
